highways. Most are connected by small private and public roads which give access to highways at a considerable distance. The large sites in this area are bounded in part by major highways and railroads, but are more remote from industrial aggregations and downtown business centers. Most of the land is privately-owned agricultural land, with present values ranging from $150 to $400 per acre.

Ample Utility Service
The Illinois Power Co. services Nameoki township with electric power; Union Electric provides the same to Clinton township. Water is available largely from the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. and the Ponton Beach Water District. The Illinois Power Co. provides gas, but sewerage facilities are not so ubiquitous.

Between Granite City on the south, the bluffs on the east and Wood River on the north are a number of large sites totaling about 14,000 acres.

This is the largest area of open land in the American Bottoms area available for industrial development.

Near Canal, Port
This area is bounded on the west by the Chain of Rocks Canal and government-owned land, including that of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority.

These sites are served by seven major railroads: Alton & Southern, Terminal Association, New York Central, Wabash, Gulf Mobile & Ohio, Litchfield & Madison, and the Illinois Terminal. There are large yards at Mitchell, Hartford, Roxana, Wood River, East Alton, and Alton; most of the area is within railroad switching limits.

Several highways serve the area. U.S. Bypasses 66 and 40 extend westward from Edwardsville to the Chain of Rocks Canal, crossing the Mississippi via the Chain of Rocks Bridge. Illinois 113 extends south of Wood River through the middle portion of the area. U.S. 40 extends 67 miles south from East Alton through Wood River and Hartford, following the levee on the west side of the area.

Many Highways, Roads
The area, moreover, is crossed by other major arterials as well as many private and country roads, which give access to state and federal highways.

The entire area lies north as Alton and along both sides of the Cahokia diversion channel, is protected from flooding by 52-foot levees. Most of the land lies between 420 and 430 feet, somewhat higher than portions of the floodplain south of East St. Louis. Eastward, the elevation increases to 440 feet. East of 430 feet, rising abruptly to 550 feet at the top of the bluffs.

Union Electric serves the western part of the area with electric power; Illinois Power Co. services the eastern part with electric power. Gas is available from the Illinois Power Co. ground sources, and sewerage facilities are not so ubiquitous.

63 Miles Of Sites
There are, then, some 63 square miles of potential industrial land in the entire American Bottoms area, and about 32% of the site acreage located in the Granite City-Wood River bluffs area, and about 72% of the site area in the Horseshoe Lake area.

Thus, about 67% of the land classified as potential site land is located in Madison county largely within 10 miles of Granite City.

Although data regarding value of land was not readily available for all sites, it was found the value per acre ranged from $100 in remote agricultural areas to $10,000 for well-developed properties. Land in the Granite City area generally was not so expensive nor so cheap as in other parts of the total area studied.

Missouri Sites More Costly
A cursory examination of values of St. Louis sites shows that they are higher by several thousand dollars than those in the Illinois portion of the metropolitan area.

Moreover, Illinois sites generally are better served by the excellent water-rail-highway-pipeline complex than sites on the Missouri side.

Many Advantages Here
The Granite City area has a number of advantages for industrial development—proximity to market, raw materials, water and nearby industries. Much good level land is available in the north, northwest and east of Granite City for industry and for a major metropolitan airport, plans for which are in the offing.

In spite of the bad reputation which portions of the Illinois

SICL Delegation To Visit Springfield

A delegation of members of the Southern Illinois Citizens League, an organization opposing the taxation of Illinois residents working in Missouri, has been invited to appear in Springfield Wednesday in connection with a hearing before the executive committee of the House of Representatives.

David Gantt of Granite City, who will be in the delegation, said the group was invited by Rep. Alan J. Dixon of Belleville who is preparing an amendment to the U.S. Constitution to prohibit a state from taxing non-residents. He also is arranging for the delegation to meet with Gov. Otto Kern.

Traveling with Gantt to Springfield will be SICL members Norbert Schenk, William Kuehn and John McKinney, all of Belleville.

The company now has space on two floors, and performs finishing work there before furniture is delivered to customers.

Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. James (Leitha) Gitchoff, whose husband is co-operator of Hollywood-Andrews photography studio here; three sons, Howard S., George G., both of Granite City and E. David Cline, Large, Fla.; ten grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

H & R Furniture Plans Move To Bellemore Village

The H & R Furniture Store plans to begin operations in a new location by June 1, Mrs. Lillian L. Hurwitz, owner of the business, told the Press-Record.

Mrs. Hurwitz said the store may be established next to Gamm Shoe Outlet in Bellemore shopping center. She said a lease is being prepared.

The new location, to be somewhat smaller than the present structure at 1818 Delmar avenue, was chosen recently in a meeting of the board of directors, Mrs. Hurwitz said.

The furniture firm has been at the Delmar address since 1927, when it was first housed in the building built by the late Ben Schermer, who was operator of the hardware company next door.

The hardware firm is expected to move into the furniture building to make way for raising of its present structure to provide drive-in banking facilities.

H & R plans to begin moving merchandise within two weeks and will gradually make the changeover. A "move-out" sale in progress for sometime now, is expected to continue until the store is completely relocated.

Founded by the late I. R. Hurwitz, who died in September 1959, the furniture company will use its warehouse in the 1800 block of Cleveland blvd. to more extent because of the smaller dimensions of the new one-story location, which is about 10,000 square feet less in size.

The company now has space on two floors, and performs finishing work there before furniture is delivered to customers.

An institute on juvenile law enforcement is to be conducted in Granite City April 26 and 27 as a cooperative project of the Division of Community Services of the Illinois Youth Commission, the Illinois Juvenile Officers Association and the Extension Division of the University of Illinois.

Granite City Police Chief Raymond Willard, who will be the chairman, said the programs will be conducted in the city hall with Mayor Davis giving the address of welcome.

Taking part on the April 26 program, which is to open at 8:30 a.m. with registration, will be Charles R. College of Law, whose topic will be "Youth Citizenship in America and the Far East."

There also will be a panel discussion, "Law Enforcement Problems in the Community," with County Judge Michael Kinney as moderator. Members of the panel will be Joseph Rittenhouse, East St. Louis patrolman; traffic Lt. George Teller, Granite City; Sgt. Richard Mercurio, Belleville; interviewing: Sgt.

McMillan, Granite City, and Mrs. Marion Kirby, director of the local coordinated Youth Services office, will be given by Madison County. The city's Atty. Dick H. Mudge Jr.

Jobless Pay Boost Bill Goes To Governor

(Special from Springfield)

A free night gate at the Illinois state fair here next August was signed into law and other legislation to increase jobless pay was given final General Assembly approval today by Gov. Otto Kerner in activities of the State Legislature last week.

Also passed and sent to Kerner were two Chicago police reform bills. The free state fair gate and a system of around-the-clock admission charges which were placed into effect by the legislature three years ago. The law which now abolishes the free gate in part provides no charge shall be made between five p.m. and six a.m. Critics claimed the night admission fee cut attendance and that its elimination will mean increased revenue from concessions.

The measure hiking unemployment compensation payments was passed by the Senate, 53 to 2, and Gov. Kerner is slated to sign it as he has already indicated his approval and because it was drafted by an advisory committee he appointed. It is estimated the overall annual bill will be about $24 million. The two objectives of the boosted payments were Sen. Joseph R. Peterson (R-Pine) and Robert R. Canfield (R-Rockford).

Minimum Payments
Under the bill the weekly minimum payment for an unemployed single worker would be raised from $32 to $38 and for a married man with four children it would be raised from $50 to $59. The increases are scheduled to go into effect July 1 and the proposal takes advantage of newly-enacted federal wage extension payments for an additional 13 weeks to workers.

who exhausted their benefits last July 1, 1960.
The Chicago police reform bills, already approved by the House, cleared the Senate with little roll-call difficulty but drew an oratorical blast from Sen. Dennis J. Collins (R-DeKalb) who called Chicago "one of the worst gangster cities in the world" and expressed the hope Cook County States Attorney John Ward will prosecute for bloody gangster murders "but not vote against the legislation."

The vote for passage was 54 to two with Sens. Lott Holman (R-Chicago) and O'Neill (R-Downers Grove) Illinois' first lady lawmaker (1922) and Peterson, voting "No." Sen. William J. Connors (D-Chicago), boss of the so-called roaring 42nd ward "Gold Coast" on Chicago's floor north side, pointed out Chicago has a population of four million, so "there are bound to be some rotten apples among that many."

The legislation now goes to Kerner for his expected signature. It gives legal sanction to creation a year ago of a police pension board to classify and among its five members and empowers it to discharge or suspend for periods of more than 29 days with lesser disciplinary action left up to the city. The bill was passed by a similar bill by Sen. Egbert B. Gross (R-Pekin).

House passed and sent to the Senate last week a bill calling for construction of a $900,000 sports arena on the Illinois State Fairgrounds here. The bill, introduced by Sen. Dennis J. Collins (R-DeKalb) on the 118 required to pass emergency legislation. Speaker Paul H. Findlay (D-Vernon) took the floor to speak for it when it appeared it might fall short of the required two-thirds majority.

New Legislation
New legislation last week included a bill by Rep. Noble W. Lee (R-Chicago) to prohibit employees of state and local governments from serving in the General Assembly. It is aimed at a practice of some legislators' most of them from Chicago, of holding other government jobs. Lee's resolution also provides a legislator be allowed to cast the number of votes he received when elected.

Legislation to ban payoff pinball machines in Illinois was stalled in Senate committee last week. The Senate Judiciary Committee postponed the measure to next week after strong opposition. The bill would require the machines to be returned to the state to be retested and repaired. A similar bill was vetoed by former Gov. William G. Stratton two years ago.

Appointments to state positions by Gov. Kerner last week included two assistant directors of state code department, Thorton Blinn, Robinson, to assistant director of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, Department, and John C. Watson, Abingdon, an unsuccessful candidate for the Agriculture Department, and Education. Both appointments were state senate confirmation.

Noonday Optimists Hear Debate Team

The varsity debate team of Granite City high school discussed "That the United Nations Should be Significantly Strengthened" at the Noonday Optimist Club meeting Thursday.

To achieve the goal, the debaters conceded, economic aid could be given through the UN World Bank to countries who at present show the most potential for development.

Debaters pointed out that 125 free nations are still underdeveloped and were so prior to organization of the UN. More than one billion persons earn less than $100 in these areas. Basing their opinions on the success of the Marshall Plan, which proved successful, the debaters argued other loans should be made payable on a 100-year basis instead of the current 25-year plan.

Taking part in the discussion were Casey Fredericks, Richard Kerch, Robert Butler and Gary Grammer. Forty members and one guest, Dwight Taylor, of the Twilight Optimist Club, heard the debate.

Venice Discussions Can Do Much To Achieve Civic Improvements

Activities and objectives of the "Good Neighbors" organization in Venice are in the formative stage, but the success in arranging block meetings already indicates general interest in a program of this type.

Basic plan is to take a second look at the Venice area, pinpointing potential residential and business developments and other community improvement possibilities. The thinking is that certain apparent lacks, such as land for expansion, may have been taken for granted but actually could be partially remedied with the aid of intensive study and planning. This could lead to a reversal of the city's 1950-60 population loss.

Regardless of what specific projects are carried out, organized neighborhood discussions themselves can do much to spur united efforts to make Venice or any other city a better place in which to live. Recognition of problems and fields where improvements can be attained, combined with widespread interest in achieving solutions, is more than half the battle.

Local Area, State Have Not Been Ignoring Their Educational Needs

There is no question that we are our brothers' keeper, but there is room for some differences of opinion over how far this should be applied. The current campaign for federal aid to education raises the question of whether Illinois residents should help pay for classrooms and salaries in, say, North Dakota.

It is true that "no man is an island," and that the actions of North Dakota residents can and probably will affect some of us, for good or evil. Thus there must be concern locally that children there or in any other state or part of the world receive the best possible education. How much responsibility should be borne by the North Dakota parents and taxpayers is the issue.

A look at the record shows that Americans have been facing up to educational needs both at the local and state levels. Building an average of 70,000 classrooms in each of the last five years and increasing school expenditures 200% while enrollment was rising 50% in the past decade. Although Census Bureau projections show a lessening need — with enrollment increases between 1963 and 1970 only about half the 1955-60 increases — a record $1,750,000,000 in school construction bond issues was approved in 1960.

It might be fair to place an additional burden on Illinois if this state had been ignoring its obligation. But in a ten-year period the state has boosted average annual teacher pay 70%, built 1276 entirely new school buildings and raised annual per-student expenditures from $197 to $411.

It is well to note that more than half of the $5.6 billion initial federal program is for college buildings, scholarships and housing, but it also should be remembered that Illinois voters in November approved a $195 million university construction bond issue. And over 3500 Illinois college students are pursuing their education under a state scholarship plan that operates precisely the same as the federal program.

Illinois residents have shown high devotion to their citizenship duties by their votes and payments for schools and colleges. With even greater expenditures forecast as necessary in Illinois in the next two years, this hardly seems the time to shoulder part of the burden of other states that may not have been as generous or far-sighted in the past.

Local Plants, Employees Aid In Setting New Steel Safety Record

Because of the large number of steel firms in the Quad-Cities, there is local interest in a report showing that steelworkers were safer on the job than ever before during 1960. Lost-time injuries per million man-hours worked averaged 3.14, down 10% from the 1959 rate of 3.51 and down 2% from the previous record of 3.21 set in 1958.

The steel industry continued its tradition of having an accident frequency rate only about as great as that for all industry. Severity also decreased in 1960, dropping 19% to a rate of 742 days lost for each million man-hours. The lowest severity mark of 728 dates back to 1958.

Employees and employers both have a stake in accident-free plant operations, and the emphasis placed on safety at local steel mills has had no small part in the industry-wide improvement. Intensive training and better application of proven accident prevention measures are regarded as largely responsible.

Warm Weather Will Afford More Opportunities For Needed Exercise

With wintry winds diminishing and Quad-Cities turning to thoughts of spring, emphasis will be on the out-of-doors and increased physical activity. This generally will be for the best, because most of us would be healthier and happier with more exercise.

Compared to the strenuous days of youth, the workaday world and household chores prove confining to many people. With fewer opportunities for exercise and even less inclination, they begin to add pounds and paunch and simultaneously subtract coordination, muscle tone and an intangible sense of well-being.

But the battle of the bulging waistline is worth the effort, both for long life and fuller enjoyment of the years allotted to us. While more women than men exercise, possibly being encouraged by special daytime radio and television programs on this subject, it behooves all to set aside at least a short period of each day for exercise. Walking also is excellent for improved physical condition and stamina.

Sore muscles on the first few days of a planned exercise program need not deter one, for they soon depart. The early discomfort, health authorities say, is justified by the dividends.

Voting On President Should Be Allowed Before Year's Residence

Reduction of Illinois' one-year residence requirement on voting for the president and vice-president is a logical proposal. Citizens of the United States should not be disfranchised merely because they have moved from one state to another, since national issues are known in all 50 states. Scope of the problem is indicated by a 1958 U. S. Census Bureau report showing that 5,600,000 persons moved from one state to another in a one-year period.

Such states as Missouri, Ohio, Connecticut, Wisconsin and California have modified their residence laws to enable otherwise eligible voters to cast a ballot for president and vice-president, generally after 60 days; they still cannot vote on state and local offices until the regular period of a year has elapsed. Similar action by the Illinois legislature would be in the public interest.

Jaycees To Discuss New Projects, Events

Upcoming activities and projects of the Jaycees will be discussed during a special meeting Wednesday at the Elks Club. During the meeting, members will be urged to attend the District Eight board meeting at Alton to place William Wyatt in the running for state vice-president, and also put in a bid to hold the February board meeting here.

Wyatt is a past president of the Jaycees and has held other offices within the local group. The young man's group also will discuss entering three five-man teams in the state bowling tournament at Northbrook, a suburb of Chicago, on April 23; and the May 19 state convention at Springfield, and entry into the July 9 golf tourney at Bloomington.

Local projects to be discussed include making preparations and setting dates for the Miss Granite City contest to be held in the summer, the sports jambooree, and the art award contest. Discussion on contributions to the Teachers Scholarship for Retarded Children fund also will be held.

Madison Permits Exceed $33,000 During March

New construction and remodeling projects valued at a total of $33,000 were authorized in Madison during March, when seven building permits were issued, a monthly listing showed today.

A $15,000 permit was obtained by James Gardner, who will remodel a building at 904 Jackson street to accommodate an automatic laundromat business. A block fire wall will be provided in the furnace room, an addition exit from the building will be created, flue will be installed on gas clothes drying machines and new electrical wiring will be installed.

James Burns plans to erect a 24x30-foot brick garage costing $10,000. 701 Madison avenue, and Edgar Kofahl will build a four-room 24x26-foot residence at the rear of a lot in the 1800 block of Market street at a cost of $4,500.

Howard Thebeau, 1222 Iowa street, plans to install new siding and to enclose a front porch at an expenditure of $1500, while Arthur Webb will remodel a home at 1735 Rhodes street and carry out repairs at a cost of $1,400.

Other permits were for a 20x22-foot frame garage costing $300 to be built by W. R. Hefner at 1081 Market street, and for a $300 billboard to be erected at 1208 State street by the General Outdoor Advertising Co.

SIDELIGHTS from SPRINGFIELD

By Rep. PAUL SIMON

There is no single issue which gives a legislator as much heartache and frustration as the care of the mentally retarded.

Parents who have a mentally retarded child who must be institutionalized frequently face unbelievable problems. Within the past week I have been contacted twice by parents with children they can no longer control, children who represent a physical and emotional danger to the other children in the family.

When they come pleading for help, it is terrible to have to say, "I don't think there is much I can do which can help you immediately."

Illinois has two institutions for the mentally retarded, one at Lincoln and one at Dixon, with a total of more than 10,000 patients. The Lincoln institution is the largest of its kind in the world.

Both places are badly overcrowded.

What is even worse, there are almost 2000 on the list awaiting admission. Right now, the waiting period for a child to be placed is about three years. There is some slight, however, in an otherwise gloomy picture. Here are some things that are happening:

(1) A $85-bed institution, the Illinois State Pediatric Institute, will begin to accommodate some patients.

(2) A home for 300 will be made at Harburg, and for 750 at Centra. Both will be new institutions, and it may be two to three years before they can accommodate these patients.

(3) A bill has been introduced with passage likely, which calls for state assistance within carefully drawn limits for those who are on the waiting list, who have been placed temporarily in privately operated care centers.

(4) A counseling program for parents of mentally retarded children who are at home probably will be begun in the fall.

(5) An additional two new institutions probably will be constructed in the northern and western part of the state. This is still in the "talk" stage, so these institutions are at least three years away.

When—and if—we have all of these things, the problem will not be solved, but it will be improved.

Somewhat related to this same field is the progress being made by more and more school districts in giving opportunities to the "slow learner" of limited mental capacities. The state is encouraging this work, as it should. A community has as much responsibility to help those who have a harder time helping themselves, as it does to the more gifted.

Here also, there is a long way to go, with far too many school districts doing little or nothing for these children.

One of the tests of whether a government is good or not good, was suggested some centuries ago by the question: "How do you treat your helpless?"

M. D. Conroy Estate

Valued At $116,683

A value of $116,683 was placed upon the estate of the late M. D. Conroy, retired vice-president of Granite City Steel Co., in an inventory filed last week in a St. Louis probate court.

Included were stocks valued at $107,948. According to his will, Mr. Conroy's estate will be shared equally by three cousins and two friends.

The former steel company vice-president, who resided at 1616 Lindell Blvd. in St. Louis, died last Feb. 20 at St. Luke's Hospital.

Minor Accident

Making a right turn off Delmar avenue to travel east on 20th street Thursday evening, Barbara A. Lindner, 17, of 2415 Jorden avenue struck the left rear of a parked car belonging to the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank. Police said damage was minor.

In Illinois we could answer that we have much improvement to make, but we are heading in the right direction.

Chiefs Bomb Roxana Baseball Team 13-2, Even Record At 1-1

The Prather junior high school Chiefs evened their spring baseball record at 1-1 Friday afternoon with an easy 13-2 win over Roxana at Wilson Park.

The Chiefs managed just four hits but took advantage of 16 walks given up by three Roxana hurlers.

Jim Rains called a four-bagger for the winners, who wrapped up the abbreviated 5 1/2-inning contest by bunting off the last out in the fifth inning.

The winning pitcher was Prather's Bernie Smith, who went the distance striking out six and walking the same number and giving up three hits.

The Chiefs were scheduled to meet here this afternoon, but Coach Conrad "Babe" Champion said the game has been postponed due to wet grounds. Prather's next contest will be in Collinsville Wednesday afternoon.

Boat Operators Asked To Use Canal Due To Work On Dam

Due to construction of the new navigation locks and day marks, the St. Louis Army Engineers District is urging both small craft and commercial operators to use the Chain N. Rocks Canal and locks.

Lowell Obenchain, chief of the district's Construction Operations, points out the new boating season at the dam construction "has progressed steadily to a point where obstructions within the navigation channel make navigation through this reach particularly hazardous."

"During the ensuing year, contractors will have many pieces of floating plant—barges, float, derrick and cranes, workboats, etc.—anchored and working in the area," Obenchain says. "Anchor cables, mooring lines and buoys will further complicate navigation, to the extent that at times the river may be completely blocked. In addition, as construction progresses, the hydrographic survey will further endanger navigation."

"In view of the impending situation, all through river traffic should make use of the Chain of Rocks Canal and Locks No. 27. Limits on Approaching Dam. The Chain of Rocks Canal, from the upstream side any close to the Chain of Rocks Bridge, or the downstream, side any closer than the end of the stone masonry dam, should be 2000 feet downstream from the Chain of Rocks Bridge. Obenchain adds that "dams in the St. Louis district have super structures which can be seen. However, dangerous conditions exist at all times, so care should be exercised at all times."

"Currents above and below each dam are dangerous for a distance of 300 to 600 feet. Cruise along the lock side of the river when approaching a lock, avoid the dam, so as to avoid the lock. This is the law, instituted for your safety. It is unlawful to pass through a dam even though the gates may be raised out of the water."

The Army Engineers also cite for the benefit of the boating public the navigation regulations currently in effect.

The regulations provide that "the vessel arriving first at the lock shall have the right to lock through, but precedence shall be given to vessels belonging to the United States and to commercial vessels in the order named."

Passenger boats shall have precedence over tow and like craft. Arrival posts or markers may be established ashore above the lock, and the vessel arriving at or opposite such posts or markers will be considered as having arrived at the lock, and the vessel within the meaning of the regulations.

Spring Weekend Camps Begin At Sunnen Site

Spring weekend camping at Camp Sunnen, Potomac, Md., began this weekend with two units of the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council participating.

Included were about 20 Scouts and five leaders from Sacred Heart Youth Society Troop 18, led by Scoutmaster Lee Holbrook. Council Field Director Clayton Breihan was in charge of operation of the camp, and during the weekend he and Henry Harris, Troop 18 assistant scoutmaster, carried out repairs to the camp water pump manifold.

Use of the summer camps for weekend training in outdoor scouting skills is permitted under terms of the camp agreement when council executives are personally in attendance. A series of weekend programs has been arranged for this spring, with the council staff members alternating as camp supervisors.

GCHS Blanks Collinsville In Tennis Opener, 5-0

Dick Harmon's Granite City high school tennis squad blanked Collinsville in easy fashion here Thursday afternoon, winning each of its singles and doubles matches in straight sets for a 5-0 victory.

Harmon felt the season opener was probably the easiest test his Warriors netaters will face this spring, and pointed ahead to three rough opponents which the Warriors have scheduled within the next week.

The first is Belleville. The Warriors opened this afternoon on the Township high school courts. Wednesday, the GCHS netmen are to go to Edwardsville, rated as another tough conference opponent by Harmon, who also is defending the Southwestern tour title.

Edwardsville edged the Macombs 3-2 Thursday, with each of the singles and doubles matches going three sets. The GCHS coach rates these two conference foes, together with Country Day of St. Louis, as the toughest tests for his team this season.

It was all GCHS on the Wilson Park courts Thursday, however.

No. 1 singles player Mike Barnes got things going with a 6-0, 6-2 victory over Jackie Findley of Collinsville. Bill Loun followed with a 6-1, 6-3 win over Collinsville's No. 2 doubles team, Joe Arto and Jim Sasse.

In exhibition matches Dave Rousseau of GCHS stopped John LeBlanc 6-0, 6-1, and Jim Harsh of the Warriors was leading Jim Sasse 2-1 when their match was discontinued because of darkness.

Shells Edge Madison On Base Running Oversight, Sixth Inning Error, 6-5

A home run which turned out not to be a home run probably cost Madison high school's varsity baseball team its first victory of the season on the MHS diamond Thursday afternoon, where the Trojans were defeated by Midwestern conference leader Roxana, 6-5.

The Trojans were down by two runs in the bottom of the fifth when Coach Earl McClain's son punted pitcher Jerry Graklanoff to the plate with two bases aboard.

Graklanoff played the pinch-hit role perfectly, smashing a long drive to right and scoring easily behind Jim Gulash as Tony Modulare to give Madison a 6-5 lead, apparently.

But alert Shell player had watched Graklanoff round the bases and noticed that he had missed third base. Graklanoff was ruled out on the umpire appeal play, credited with a double instead of a round-tripper, and the score was tied 5-5.

A throwing error in the top of the sixth inning then gave Roxana an unearned run and the victory. Madison threatened again in the bottom of the sixth when Dan Hrysko tripled with one out, but died on third.

Dan Trotts hurled the entire game for Madison, giving up 11 hits. Ken Heinz, the second of three Roxana pitchers, got credit for the victory. Madison collected only five hits and committed four errors, while the Shells accounted for five miscues.

Coolidge JHS Net Squad Downs Prather For 26th Straight

The school's 26th straight victory on the tennis courts was recorded by the 1961 edition of Coolidge junior high school's net squad Thursday afternoon at the Granite City high school layout.

Prather, beginning its first season of tennis competition, will travel to Edwardsville at Wilson Park, beginning at 4 p.m. today. Coolidge travels to Belleville on Friday for 3:30 p.m. matches.

Thursday's results:
No. 1 singles—Rusty Touben (C) defeated Don Skaggs (P), 6-0, 6-0.
No. 2 singles—Drew Karandjef (C) defeated Ernie Ernst (P), 6-0, 6-0.

No. 2 doubles—Dan King and Jim Nash (C) defeated Bob Finley and Art Hanson (P), 6-0, 6-0.
In exhibition matches, Barry Friedman, Jim Goss and Jim Rucker, all of Coolidge, were victorious.

HOW TO BECOME A PHARMACIST. The practice of pharmacy requires much professional training. To obtain a license, a pharmacist now is required to attend five years at a college of pharmacy, serve an apprenticeship and pass a state examination to prove knowledge.

OPERATING A PHARMACY IS NOT EASY. Careful buying is needed. With more than 4000 different medicines in our prescription department and thousands of other health-aids and sickroom needs, our problem is to have what you ask for. We must not stock too much of a product, or potency and freshness will be gone when you buy it. And, we must keep informed about new products and immediately get them so we can fill any physician's prescriptions.

OUR PRICES MUST BE COMPETITIVE. We must earn a profit to stay in business, but it must not be greater than that of any other reliable pharmacy. Our prices are always fair.

A GOOD PHARMACY OFFERS SERVICE. We must earn the preference you show us by making us your pharmacy. Therefore, we try our best to be courteous, dependable and helpful. We gladly offer charge service and informed answers to your questions.

AND WE LIKE LIFE. Despite its long working hours, there is nothing more rewarding than a pharmacist. Each night we know that the products and service we provide has helped others to live a healthier, happier life.

More About Railroad, City Differ

"If the south end of Main is closed, they will have a difficult time getting to the roundhouse. They won't get down Main on the other side."

World Ban Unattended Cars
Checked pointed remarks were aimed at railroads as the council placed on first reading an unnumbered ordinance regarding railroad operations over public streets and establishing fines of $25 to $300 for each offense.

The proposed ordinance would make it illegal to send rail cars across a street, such as at the Kerr street crossing, unless they are connected to a train with adequate brakes or unless a skilled brakeman is riding on the car with adequate braking mechanism at his disposal. At night, a headlight would be required on each car sent rolling free from a train.

No further action was taken on the ordinance on the ground that Attorney Hartman will need time to add a section clarifying whether the employees involved or the railroad officials would be charged in the event of violations.

The mayor said city employees removed some of the barricades March 27 but replaced them after he and Hartman conferred the next day in Springfield with R. B. Thomas, ICC chief engineer. He said the removal action was taken because notices to do so had been sent earlier to the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad and the city officials felt that "three months was time enough."

Support of the city's stand in seeing reopening of the street was voiced by a spokesman, Gale Phelps, on behalf of railroad employees. Morris Radzicki, Illinois legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, is to attend the hearing in Springfield.

Managers Informed That IVC Will Be Retained

City and labor officials here have supported continuation of the present assistance program, he added.

Chief Willard said the purpose of the special week is to create interest in all phases of safety with emphasis on traffic.
The Quad-City Safety Council with membership from local civic groups and industries conducts an annual "Safety Week," and throughout the year operates a speakers' bureau and lends assistance in promoting better safety to any local group.

Plan to be a homeowner?

It's best to have a lawyer

A lawyer will protect your interests in many ways. He will see that all the papers are in order, that the legal description of the property is accurate. Your lawyer will make certain that you receive everything that should go with the house . . . and that your rights are fully safeguarded.

Preventing trouble now is far cheaper than paying for it later. That's why the wise buyer says: I never buy real estate without seeing a lawyer.

And when you buy—be sure the title is insured by a title insurance policy from Chicago Title and Trust Company. It is the best assurance you can have that you own the property you pay for.

Madison Solons To Fight Future Assessment Cuts

Concerned over assessment decreases affecting city finances, Madison city officials hope to determine the reasons so that they can fight future cutbacks. They have indicated that they plan to be represented at future assessment hearings to oppose decreases they consider inequitable.

Plans for a study by Corporation Counsel Austin Lewis and City Attorney Nick Vasiloff were announced at last week's city council meeting as the officials expressed unhappiness over a 3.1-cent city tax rate increase announced in late March. They blame it on an artificially low rate a year ago, resulting from assessment inflated $700,000 by an error on placement of the McKinley Bridge.

The officials specifically have planned an East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. assessment change, saying that the assessment of $339,900 was reduced by $191,355 to a $148,525 total for the Madison county Board of Assessors.

State Railroad Valuation

The city also is dissatisfied with the property assessment of the McKinley Bridge, which was reduced by $191,355 to a $148,525 total for the Madison county Board of Assessors.

The bridge assessment error resulted in a net loss of $339,900 to the city. The error was set and bills collected at lower amounts than the assessment would have justified as finally corrected. It was a $349,471 drop — $84,971 plus the $264,500 — thus boosting the tax rate.

Between the 1958 and 1959 city assessments, a $38,697 increase appeared on the books and this included the $500,000 error. Net effect would have been a $461,303 decrease.

When the amount was changed from $349,471 drop to $84,971 plus the $264,500, thus boosting the tax rate.

GC HOME BUREAU UNIT HEARS TALK ON BUYING

The Granite City unit of the Madison County Home Bureau met Wednesday afternoon at St. John's United Church of Christ, with Mrs. Genevieve Hill, chairman, conducting the business meeting.

Mrs. Hill reminded the unit that there will be no May meeting due to the semi-annual meeting of the Southwest district. The members discussed plans to present a "hat show" at the meeting, to show hats they have made and give instruction in the making of hats.

A discussion also was held on the unit attending a cooking school with the trio unit on April 20. It will be an all-day class in St. Louis.

The major lesson, on "Food Promotion," part of the lesson on "What Mrs. Consumer Learns About Marketing," was presented by Mrs. Elaine Wendler, home advisor, from Edwardsville.

Mrs. Wendler explained various "specials" run by stores, buying in quantity, impulse buying and best ways to shop to conserve energy, time and money. She stressed the need for leaving the children at home and using a shopping list after making out the week's menu in advance.

Mrs. Glenda Olson gave the minor lesson, "What Your Hands Tell Others," and Mrs. Vera Carey presented the health lesson, "Infectious Hepatitis."

A dessert luncheon was served by the afternoon's hostesses, Mrs. Alma Beckman and Mrs. Izzetta Staydhar, for Mrs. Betty Holt, Mrs. Mary Kinder, Mrs. Marcelle, an Obornovich, Mrs. Marvina LeGrand, Mrs. Loretta Haack, Mrs. Evelyn Guth, Mrs. Norma Brendenbach, Mrs. Charlotte Trampler, Mrs. Anna Pare, Mrs. Frances Jones, Mrs. Amy Turnbull, Mrs. Oma Turnbull, Mrs. Ann Tucker, Mrs. Alto Davis, Mrs. Fredrick, Mrs. Elroy, Mrs. Mary Krizan and two guests, Mrs. Ada Snipes and Mrs. Frances Wade.

The birthday party was in keeping with the "space age," with the tables and cake decorated in a "man from Mars" theme. Balloons and yellow crepe paper streamers suspended from the ceiling of the basement to the serving table completed the decorations.

Games were played with all the guests receiving prizes. The honored guest was presented with many gifts.
